STATE NEWS.

Androscoggin.

The two cases of varioloid in Auburn are convalescing. The only new case is that of a young child of Mrs. Jepson, who has just come down with the varioloid. The mother who has the varioloid, is able to sit up. The small-pox scare has subsided, and the scholars who fought shy of public schools early in the week, are returning to school with their esteemed geographies and arithmetics.

J. A. Jones has been taking the census of the scholars of Lewiston during the past few weeks. He finds there are 6479 scholars in the city. While taking the scholars, he also took a census of the population, and found 19,007 persons in Lewiston. The population has been generally estimated at from 18,000 to 20,000. Lewiston and Auburn together have a population of nearly 30,000.

Monday afternoon, Peter Ryan, aged seven years, of Portland, went to the woods for May flowers. During his absence he found what he supposed to be some checkerberry plums, of which he ate freely. The berries proved to be poisonous, and the lad died at two o'clock, Tuesday morning.

The drives of logs now afloat in the Androscoggin en route for Lewiston, this year reach about twenty-four millions, belonging to Messrs. R. C. Pingree & Co., and the Lewiston Steam Mill Company. The front of the drives is at Jay and the rear at Pontook Falls, N. H., above Berlin Falls. The drives are a little further along than usual at this season. They are all old logs. Next year's drives will be smaller as only about thirteen million logs have been cut on the river this season, to sixty millions the year before.

Charles H. Packard of Mechanic Falls, while at work in a saw mill at Page's Mills, Wednesday, was struck in the eye by a knot that flew from a board he was sawing. He will probably lose the sight of his eye.

The Mechanic Falls Herald says that Mrs. Eliza Caldwell died of convulsions at the residence of Dr. R. A. Cobb, in that village, Wednesday, the 26th ult., caused by an attempt to produce an abortion. It is reported that the so called doctor has fled to Canada. The woman was taken to Casco and buried, but since the body has been exhumed and taken to Mechanic Falls, where Coroner Lane held an inquest with a jury made up partly of physicians. The result the officer declines to make public at present. The woman did not live with her husband.

Cumberland.

The Telegraph says that Daniel Pratt has got as far as Brunswick, on his usual travels.

The Chronicle says that John McLain of New Vineyard met with a serious accident. While having an unruly ox shod the other day, the animal suddenly struck him in the face with his horn. The point of the horn entered his face near his eye, and made a bad wound, by which it is feared that he may eventually lose his sight unless he receives the best of treatment.

A father, son and grandson at Chesterville were seen together on the first day of May, each transplanting a centennial sugar maple.

Mrs. Elizabeth Rackliff of Allen's Mills, Industry, who was 83 years old the 12th of April, has, the past winter, knit four pairs of men's stockings, four pairs of women's stockings, four pairs of double mittens, cut and made her husband a pair of pants, beside doing her housework.

Hancock.

Intelligence has been received in Tremont of the death of Winfield Hotchkins and Frank Holmes, of diphtheria, two of the crew of the schooner Silver Heels, which was frozen into St. Georges Bay, N. F., last fall, and has not yet got out. Apprehensions are felt for the rest of the crew.

The Kennebec Jail workshop which had been closed for some eight weeks started up Friday. Some ten or a dozen inmates of the jail will be employed. The work is to be upon kip boots and russet slippers.

Knox.

Mrs. Foster Bickford of Appleton fell from the top of a bank wall near the entrance to the Baptist meeting-house—a distance of about two feet—Thursday of last week, at the close of the evening services, and broke her hip. She has but recently recovered from a severe injury, caused by falling on the ice early in the winter.

Miss Lillian Simmons of Warren, sixteen years of age, was burned to death, on Thursday, by her clothes taking fire while at work about the stove.

The Warren woolen mills are again running on full time.

Two Philadelphia parties have taken ten shares apiece. The poles for wires have been contracted for at twenty-five cents apiece, and the work will be pushed at once.

Bean's steam mill at Bethel was considerably damaged by fire, Saturday.

Cases of the small-pox have appeared in Dixfield village, and there is much excitement there. Mrs. Benj. Fish of Dixfield has died. The family lived some three miles from the village, and a short distance from the Littlefield family. Mrs. Littlefield being one of those who died some weeks ago.

Mrs. Marcia Small of Dixfield attempted suicide May 1st, by cutting her throat. She had seemed partially insane. She will probably recover from her injuries.

Piscataquis.

Sleighs were used at Dover to some extent May first.

The Observer says an outrage of the meanest order was committed on Monday at the depot in Dover. John McAllister, of that town left at that place, to be shipped several boxes of eggs. While the station agent, Mr. Robinson was absent at noon, some malicious person, it is supposed, removed the covers, and by the appearance of things trampled over them and ruined for shipping 30 dozen.

The Dexter Gazette says: We are told that a day or two since a man from a neighboring town brought a barrel of cider into this village for sale, but was unable to find a customer for it at any price, and was obliged to haul it home again. All of which looks like reform.

The editor of the Gazette has been shown three diminutive steam engines made by Prof. W. A. Cates, a blind man. Each of the engines is complete, one of them being a vertical or beam engine, of the style used on steamboats, and weighing four ounces; the other, a horizontal engine, the style used for driving machinery, and weighing one and one-half pounds; the third, an oscillating engine, the kind used in monitors, and weighing one-eighth of an ounce. The first two of these engines have nearly all the arrangements seen upon any engine of similar style and large size; their reversing apparatus is especially noticeable, and renders them obedient to the slightest touch. The boiler is of copper, and made with flues and fire box, and has water gauges, safety valve, throttle, whistle, etc. The whole together, boiler and engines, is contained in a box about 9 inches long by 5 wide.

Sagadahoc.

The barn of Alvah Parlin of Bowdoinham, on the farm formerly owned by Levi Small, was damaged by fire last Wednesday morning. Mr. P. was awakened by the barking of his dog, and was thus enabled to prevent the entire destruction of the building. It is supposed to be the work of an incendiary.

Waldo.

Three prisoners Chase, Fernald and Barnes sentenced in the S. J. C. to imprisonment, planned to make their escape from Belfast jail one night last week. They chatted in hearing of a sheriff, and so their game didn't work.

On Friday afternoon Cornelius Haley, an old man 65 years of age, and employed at the New England House, was knocked down and run over by a milk team. Both wheels of the team passed over Haley's body, and he was also struck on the head by the horse's foot. He was severely bruised but no bones were broken.

During the past week, there has been no heavy rains to interrupt travel, but on the contrary the weather has been decidedly cool, and the frost has been slow in getting up the winter, so that the roads are not probably dry, and but little has to trouble the market men, yet business is dull and but little produce coming into market.

EGGS are worth in the streets to-day, in lots, 15 cents per dozen, which from Western parts there leave the shippers but a small margin.

A Brain-Soothing Remedy.

The wondrous organ that crowns the edifice of man is not only the seat of reflection and the home of Ideality, but it is the governing centre of the nervous system. When it is overwrought, unduly excited, or affected by irregularities of those bodily organs with which it most closely sympathizes, all the nerves suffer, and the general health is impaired. The reason why Hostetter's Stomach Bitters exercise such a soothing influence upon the brain is, that they remove those digestive and bilious derangements which react injuriously upon it, and that in relieving irritation or weakness of the great sympathetic nerve which connects the stomach and the brain, they beneficially affect the latter organ as well as the former. Sound sleep, clearness of mind, easy digestion and freedom from biliousness are insured by this prime regulative tonic and appetizer. d&w. may9

SNAP THE WHIP.

However sincere some of the personal advocates of the Secretary of the Treasury may be in their preference it is very evident to any tolerably sagacious observer that the actual engineers of the so-called Bristow movement, whoever they may be, are encouraging it mainly with the object of impairing Mr Blaine's strength in New England. That this section should be chosen as the special field for a blow at a candidate in whose behalf hardly any effort is visible in other parts of the country indicates design, and the most obvious design is that of weakening the local support of a candidate who already is far in the lead of all other with the delegates thus far chosen, and who is daily receiving indorsement by whole delegations in different and remote sections of the Union. Whoever may be secretly managing this game of Snap the Whip, we do not believe they have the slightest notion that Mr Bristow has any chance for the nomination. Of the 754 delegates who will compose the National Convention about 420 have already been chosen and of these Mr Bristow is not known to have the preference of more than 20, if so many, while of five other candidates the one having the least known support among delegates chosen has more than double that of Mr. Bristow and Mr Blaine is absolutely the first choice of more than one third of the already chosen, with the 58 votes of Pennsylvania and the large majority of the 44 of Ohio sure to be cast for him after the complimentary balloting, while the 334 delegates yet to be chosen will include those from the great North West and other sections where Mr Blaine's popularity is greatest.

Keeping the above exhibit in mind it is easy to reach the deduction that some one—if not several somebodies—may deem it specially desirable to organize a determined rally upon the home support of a New England candidate who alone is receiving the indorsement of numerous State Conventions in other parts of the Union, and who stands already far in advance of all competitors. And this does not necessarily involve any doubt of the sincerity of many of those who are favoring the Bristow movement in our adjoining States but the circumstances point too significantly for mistake to the conviction that the big end of the whip is in the hands of abler and shrewder politicians than the callow orators of the Boston Bristow Club and that the ultimate object of the movement is to shape the leading candidate and not to advance the interests of Mr Bristow.

Leaving the reader to form his own conclusions as to some of the elements which would be likely to combine for such a purpose we may suggest that the Democrats have a special interest—which they have not been able to conceal—in encouraging any movement calculated to impair the chances of the nomination of Mr Blaine whom they fear more than any other candidate. Their earnest desire to stimulate the Bristow diversion in New England has found palpable expression in the tone and tendency of their party organs, and the glee with which they hail every announcement of the choice of a Bristow delegate shows unmistakably the Democratic eagerness for anything to beat Blaine.

There is another phase of this movement to which the attention of Republicans has not been directed sufficiently if at all. It is the significant fact that of the newspapers most clamorous in its championship, many of them are quite likely and some of them are sure, to be found opposing the Republican nominee in the ensuing Presidential campaign. While there are some staunch and sterling Republican papers advocating Mr Bristow honestly as their first choice the most vociferous and super-serviceable organs of the movement are such as the Springfield Republican, which has fought the Republican party with vindictiveness since it went over with Greeley in 1872, the New York Sun, the most piratical journal in America, which does the bludgeon work for Democracy in the name of independence, the Boston Globe, which has no settled convictions, but whose policy has been to damage the Republican party to the extent of its ability in all the recent campaigns and especially in the important contest in New Hampshire, the Louisville Courier-Journal, which prints a flattering biography of Mr Bristow, but will make a Bourbon fight against whoever may be the Republican nominee, the Boston Herald, one of the most jesuitical and unscrupulous allies of the Democratic party, which has not the slightest sympathy with anything Republican, and which will do all in its power to aid the election of a Democratic President this year, and others of the same stamp and style.

As we have said, there are some sound and trusty Republican papers that are favoring Mr. Bristow, but the acknowledged newspaper organs and leaders of the "movement" are those mentioned above. The improbability that such papers can have the real interests of the Republican party at heart, must strike the most casual observer, and there is room for a strong suspicion that their professions of friendship for Mr. Bristow are equally insincere.

The editor of the Chicago Tribune was one of those, invited, to that Cincinnati "conference" where the stories against Mr. Blaine were presented to him in the most effective shape. He was among the foremost in demanding light upon the scandal and after Mr. Blaine had demolished the Union Pacific slander, he declared that the most important of the charges made at the "conference" was the Kansas Pacific story. He now frankly accepts Mr Blaine's recent statement as completely disposing of that canard and says in his paper "His friends will now agree with him that he is justified in announcing that he will not take any further notice of scandals with which his name shall be associated."

HOW SHALL CHARGES BE MET?

[From the Boston Advertiser, May 6.]

It would be an act of kindness to public men, since their personal purity is certain to be questioned as soon as they seem to have a prospect of promotion to lay down some rule as to the method that shall be pursued in meeting charges when they are not true. The impulse of an honorable, high minded man, long in public life without a suspicion of his integrity having been hinted and conscious of his innocence, would be to treat an accusation anonymously circulated with contemptuous silence. When the charge was accompanied by the name of some responsible person, he would naturally content himself with a denial of its truth. It has been decided by the professional detectors that neither of these ways of meeting an assault is satisfactory. If the person accused says nothing they claim that silence is confession. If he denies they say it is a question of veracity and hint that the accuser is rather more worthy of belief than the accused. Thus this unfortunate victim of slander is driven to another resource. He gets all the evidence he can lay hands upon that the charge is false. This evidence however conclusive it may be otherwise is apt not to include a confession of the accuser that the story was false or invented or based on insufficient evidence. This circumstance is regarded by the doubters as very significant, and they refuse to be convinced until the retraction of the accuser is furnished. This would seem to leave one door open for escape. Suppose the badgered public man, whose reputation is dear to him, brings all the evidence and all proves the story completely. Then, he protests too much. It is a fine snare. When once a charge has been brought the victim is in the toils. He can neither speak nor be silent, he can either deny in general terms nor in particular. He can neither content himself with disproving the accusation nor make a full statement of all the details without being met with suspicion and innuendo.

All this has been exemplified in the case of Mr. Blaine, who has tried every one of the methods we have named and who although he has convinced all fair minded and honorable men of his truth and candor, is never-the-less still the object of insidious attack. His neglect to humble himself before the editor of the Cincinnati Gazette is not pardoned by the gentleman who wrote to ask him to furnish evidence of a good moral character. As a good illustration of the way in which a simple neglect of that kind may be used to cover a whole budget of insinuations we copy the following from the last number of the Gazette that has reached us:—

"Mr Medill, Mr Smith and Mr Boynton did meet to consult about charges against Mr Blaine of which the $64,000 story was not one. Of the result of that conference Mr Blaine was fully advised by Mr Smith, but Mr Blaine's explanation was not full and conclusive. In fact he did not explain at all, nor has he to this day attempted to explain the transaction then under consideration except to work upon the surface, as he did with reference to the $64,000 operation. The truth is Mr Blaine did not answer the letter sent to him with reference to that conference. Further more the first publication with reference to the Cincinnati conference was in a despatch from Washington to the Chicago Inter Ocean and that information must have proceeded from Mr Blaine. In that despatch the Cincinnati conference was spoken of as a Bristow conspiracy against Mr Blaine when in fact, Bristow knew nothing whatever about it while Blaine knew all about it. Besides it is not usual for conspirators to advise the person against whom they conspire of all they do. Mr Blaine knew perfectly well it was not a conspiracy against him or in the interest of anybody, but a conference of Republicans who intend to support the nominee of the Cincinnati convention, to ascertain whether, in view of the charges against Mr Blaine it would be safe to nominate him as the Republican candidate for the Presidency. That was the object of that conference and it was so stated to Mr Blaine and the letters written to him on the subject leave it at full liberty to publish it any time or in any place. Those letters will show not only the point which Mr Blaine has not yet explained the questions he has not answered, but also the names of the persons present, their object and the motives by which they were moved. This is all that need be said upon this subject."

This is very adroit but all there is in the whole paragraph is the fact that Mr Smith wrote an impertinent letter to Mr Blaine, and that Mr Blaine took no notice of the letter. How far the supposed personal slight may have warped the editor's judgment is a rather interesting question. If he knows or thinks he knows anything against Mr Blaine he should lose no time in publishing it. If he is proud of his letter why not print it? There are some newspapers that tell the stories of their reporters who are snubbed and sent about their business by men who refuse to be interviewed, but public men have not yet taken up with the practice of publishing letters received from gentlemen who take the burden of good government on their shoulders by putting to them insulting questions. Meanwhile another member of the "conference" who was not snubbed, appears to be satisfied that Mr. Blaine has fully explained everything. On the same day that the Cincinnati Gazette printed the paragraph we have copied the Chicago Tribune said of the second statement that "It is as comprehensive and convincing as it was in regard to the Fort Smith and Little Rock bonds, and he now stands acquitted before all fair-minded men of both parties." The Tribune adds that "in this statement he disposes of a charge which however incredible and malicious it may have seemed to him in his innocence, was stated with great particularity, and, owing to the alleged confirmation in the records of the United States Court in Kansas, had an ugly look. And lest it should be said that there was something else, some other charge yet to be brought which also "had an ugly look," Mr Medill, for we presume he must have written the article himself, not only says that this charge "seems to be completely and satisfactorily answered," but he takes care to add this comprehensive verdict on Mr. Blaine's personal uprightness in general: "Mr. Blaine said in his first statement that it had been the rule of his life not to do anything which he would be averse to having publicly known, and we believe he told the truth."

NEW HAMPSHIRE.

Several weeks ago the Keene Sentinel began a canvass among its Republican readers to ascertain their preferences for a Presidential candidate. The polls have been closed, and it announces as the result, that out of 719 votes Mr. Blaine receives for the first position on the ticket 429 votes and Mr. Bristow 287 votes. (Blaine's majority over Bristow, 142—over all, 139. The Sentinel thinks the vote for Blaine would have been much larger had the balloting continued another week, inasmuch as the clearing up of the charges against him has greatly enhanced his popularity.

A BIGGER MAN THAN OLD GRANT
THE TEXAN HOUSE-DOORKEEPER ON HIS "STILE."

[From the N. Y. Evening Post.]

The letter of the Doorkeeper of the House of Representatives to a friend in his own State which we print below, is a private one, and its publication, doubtless, is due to some reprehensible violation of confidence. Inasmuch, however, as it has found its way into print, and as we have ascertained by inquiries in Washington that it is genuine, we feel justified in copying it because of the insight which it gives into the character of an important public officer. We say important, for the Doorkeeper of the House of Representatives has duties which his name does not imply. He, in the first place, gets a salary of $2,500 a year, which ought to render it possible to secure for the place a man who at least knows how to spell correctly. It is his duty to make, before the meeting of each Congress, a roll of the representatives-elect when the Clerk and Sergeant-at-Arms are absent or unable to perform that service. During the recess the Doorkeeper is in charge of the apartments of the House of Representatives and to him is entrusted the business of providing fuel and lights for the ensuing session, and he is required to make to Congress a full report of all the public property in his charge. When it is remembered that this officer has also a large number of desirable places at his disposal (one hundred and thirty he says in his letter) and that he has opportunity of serving persons who are interested in legislation is great the necessity of putting an honest, capable and intelligent man in the position becomes apparent.

Mr. Fitzhugh's letter shows that the majority of the present House of Representatives have not been more successful in finding a doorkeeper than they have been in choosing a journal clerk and clerks for the Ways and Means and the Military Committee.

How politely all the Republican Conventions seem to be bowing Mr Blaine out! And our genial neighbor good simple soul takes it all for endorsement.—Commercial May 6

As all the newspapers of the same date contained the intelligence that the State Convention held in Oregon on the day before had chosen six delegates and adopted resolutions declaring Mr Blaine as the choice of the Convention for President of the United States, and that the State Convention held in Maryland on that day had elected sixteen delegates "and directed them to vote for Blaine so long as there is a reasonable hope for his nomination, the brilliancy of the above squib is not absolutely dazzling.

The First District Republican Convention which meets at Saco on the 25th inst will choose two delegates to Cincinnati one from Cumberland and one from York County. There has been a general desire that Hon. John B. Brown, of Portland, should go as the Cumberland delegate and we are glad to learn that he will probably consent to serve. His name and influence will add to the strength of Maine's delegation. In York county Hon. Charles E. Weld, of Buxton, is prominently mentioned and would prove an excellent choice.

It is a little thing, but with a number of other similar little things the placing of Mr. Bullock's name before that of Mr. Hoar in the telegraphic and many of the newspaper reports of the choice of delegates in the 9th Massachusetts District, shows the systematic effort being made in that State to distort everything possible in favor of Bristow. The detailed report of that Convention shows that Mr. Hoar headed the balloting and that he was properly given the precedence in declaring the names of the elected.

The Secretary of the Navy has sent to the House a statement in answer to the resolution of the 21st of March of the foreign account of the Navy Department from 1868 to date. Another payment amounting to $150,000 has just been received by the Secretary from the estate of Jay Cooke & Co, on account of the indebtedness of Jay Cooke, McCulloch & Co., to the department.

The Democrats of Toledo, Ohio, have elected Allen delegates to St. Louis, and passed resolutions peremptorily demanding the repeal of the Resumption act.

Suppose a late President were [illegible] for high crimes and misdemeanors committed while President and [illegible] at the Bar of the Senate for trial, [illegible] would preside, the Chief Justice or the President of the Senate?

[illegible] Manager Knott was unable to continue his argument on account of indisposition and leave was granted him to continue on Monday. Manager Jenks then [illegible] argument to the effect that the Senate has jurisdiction in the case.

[illegible] continuing Mr Hoar said the [illegible] demanded that W W Belknap for high crimes and misdemeanor be forever disqualified from holding or enjoying any office of honor trust or profit under the United States. For the purpose of the present argument the guilt of the defendant [illegible]. He not [illegible] demand by a denial of the authority of the House to impeach [illegible] of the authority of the Senate to try [illegible] under whatever circumstances as [illegible] the framers of the Constitution [illegible].

Mr Hoar [illegible] history of the impeachment both in England and in this country and argued that it was clear [illegible] of the [illegible] of impeachment that it had been adopted by all the State constitutions. In fact the constitution of the United States had probably taken the constitution of Virginia as its model in the framing of this provision, as the Virginia constitution expressly provided that a Governor could be impeached after he had left the office. The jurisdiction of the Senate [illegible] and extended only to [illegible] of National official trusts.

Mr Hoar continued his argument at length citing different cases and precedents until [illegible] o'clock when the Senate adjourned to Monday.

NEW YORK, May 6. An interview yesterday with Charles Francis Adams he said his nomination as Vice-President by the Labor Convention was rather amusing and said: "As for the Presidency, it is something for which I have no desire, nor can I see that their party, as such, would be likely to confer it on me, for I am not in sympathy with the politicians and have never acted as a party man. I have no itching for the Presidency. It is a thankless office at the best and whoever is President now must expect a dense of a time with a vast amount of care and trouble."

MARYLAND

The Methodist Conference—About the Book Establishments

BALTIMORE, May 6. At the Methodist Conference to-day, a paper was read showing that the book concern at New York, by reason of its immense yearly business, ought to pay a better dividend on its capital of a million of dollars, than 8 per cent and the Western book concern with its shops in Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis and Atlanta, is insolvent, with liabilities of $40,000 over its assets. The document hints that the latter is owing to mismanagement and demands an accounting by the officers. This paper is signed by C. H. Richardson, J. Wilter, John Bear and J. L. Mansfield. The report of the Western concern states that the committee report previously made showed alleged assets of $587,749 and liabilities of $485,483, which is vastly different from the above paper.

Custer Ordered to his Headquarters—The Indian Expedition Shortly to Move

NEW YORK, May 6. A despatch from Chicago to the Herald states that General Custer was notified Thursday when in the cars about to start west to report at Sheridan's headquarters. Upon repairing thither Custer was notified by Sheridan that he had orders from Washington to intercept him as he passed through Chicago, and detain him until further orders from Washington. In the meantime Sheridan was ordered to start the Indian Expedition without Custer. Subsequently orders were telegraphed to permit Custer to proceed to Fort Lincoln, his headquarters, but by the President's direction not to permit him to accompany the Expedition shortly to move against the hostile Indians which Expedition embraces all of Custer's troops and the orders for him to proceed to Fort Lincoln under these circumstances leaves him stripped of his legitimate command.

The Charges Against Conkling

Washington special agree that there is no ground for charges against Conkling in connection with the Lime-lock patent. Postmaster General Jewell did not as was stated by a special despatch yesterday, take the subject before the Cabinet and knew nothing whatever of the charges. F. W. Stoughton counsel for the Yale Lock Co. [illegible] Sargent for whom Senator Conkling was counsel, prints a card in the World to-day saying that Conkling did nothing more than his duty in the case and every suggestion to the contrary is to his (Stoughton's) knowledge, utterly unfounded.

POLITICAL AND PERSONAL

Mr Belknap is in fortunate [illegible] support [illegible] by several of the most [illegible] of the Independent papers [illegible] this bring his [illegible] to disrepute with gentlemen.—Springfield [illegible].

The Washington National Republican declares that the copy of the original report made by the Clymer committee in the Belknap case shows an erasure and alteration but the erasure is not so well done as to prevent one from reading the lines as they were originally written. These lines are in effect a statement that Belknap had resigned and are amendatory on that the House take no action in the premises because of that resignation.

The Chicago Inter Ocean says: "The general result of the municipal elections held in Indiana yesterday show, if it possesses any political significance that the temporary advantages gained by the Democrats during the last two years have worked their own cure. With rare exception Republican victories and gains are reported everywhere. This may be accepted as foreshadowing a Republican victory in the fall campaign."

Murat Halstead writing with great indignation about the Democratic appropriation bill in the House, says that the notable fact is that it appropriates a heavy sum for Southern rivers and harbors and he calls upon the Senate to scrutinize the political jobs.

NEW PUBLICATIONS

ACHSAH. The greatest novel since Uncle Tom's Cabin is one of the opinions expressed of the merits of this charming story, just issued from the publishing house of Lee & Shepard. It is a New England life study, and many readers will recognize some of the peculiar types of character so vividly portrayed in it. The manly, whole-souled and devoted young clergyman is something more impressive than a mere fancy sketch, Deacon Sterne, the sanctimonious hypocrite, the plain-talking old maid sister, the sneaking, spying aunt are life like and real, while the heroine, Achsah, is a lovely character, with whom the reader becomes in deep sympathy. These with the various other characters of the story, are so combined as to produce a book full of interest from beginning to end. For sale at Hight's. Price $1.50.

ZELL'S POPULAR ENCYCLOPEDIA AND UNIVERSAL DICTIONARY. We have received four additional numbers of this popular work, viz., Nos 13, 14, 15, and 16, which embrace subjects from CARD to COOL. The work when complete, as we have already stated, forms an Encyclopedia, a complete English Dictionary and a gazateer of the world, which makes it of greater value to the possessor than he at first considers. The subjects are treated of clearly, concisely and accurately, and the student will find it almost an indispensible addition to his library. The illustrations are especially noteworthy for their clearness and accuracy, which adds much to the beauty as well as the value of the work. In No. 13 an excellent map of Asia is given, showing distinctly the various divisions and sub-divisions of that country. The work will be adapted to the speed of the present active and hasteful age, which wants to know the best things in libraries without reading through them, the results of past scientific investigations without becoming scientists; in a word, what study has accumulated without the toil that would exhaust a lifetime. ATTEMPT TO ROB. An attempt was probably made to enter the office of Hayford & Stetson last Saturday night. Mayor Hayford locked up his office as usual, and had occasion to return about 8 o'clock. Upon reaching the top of the stairs a large plank, two iron bars and other trash were found lying on the floor, and the window near by was open. A policeman was procured and the building was searched. The skylight on the roof was open. It is supposed the parties had concealed themselves in the attic in order to be able to begin work early.

RUNAWAY. Mr. Waldo Pierce's horse took fright and ran away last Saturday evening. He started on State street and the body of the carriage was unshipped so that nothing but the front wheels were attached to the horse. He ran across Kenduskeag bridge at a furious rate and then up Main street, down one of the cross streets to Broad, then returned to State street, and finally went home. The buggy was badly damaged. Those who witnessed the sight state that it was very fortunate that more damage was not done as the frightened animal seemed to be perfectly wild.

The Post will turn out in the vicinity of a hundred men. At the cemetery thirteen young ladies will bestrew the monument with flowers while the procession is passing. After the floral decorations are attended to, the procession will march to the Lodge, at the entrance of the grounds where the address will be delivered.

The handsome new drop curtain for the Norombega Hall stage, painted by Woodcock and Sanborn of Belfast, was put up Saturday and is a great improvement on those heretofore used. Some new scenery will be painted by Mr Gill, the scenic artist, with the McDowell Company.

E. A. McDOWELL'S COMPANY. The following is what the Daily News, of St John, says of the actors who took part in "The Field of the Cloth of Gold" as presented by McDowell's company last week: Mr Shirley France received a hearty reception from his old friends and admirers. Miss Clara Fisher was encored many times throughout the piece. She is a fine singer and a good actress. Miss Brevoort, Miss Vincent, Miss Newcomb, Miss Marlow and Miss Lorne, Mr McDowell, Mr Clifton, Mr Fred Smith, Mr Alfred Smith, and the other gentlemen proved themselves fine singers, good dancers and mirth provoking burlesquers. The scenes [illegible] plot are indescribable. One must be there and get into the spirit of the play to enjoy the puns, appreciate the hits and feel the full force of the ludicrous situation.

Reform Club Meeting

The attendance at the public meeting of the Reform Club yesterday was unusually small owing to the [illegible] the meeting [illegible] [illegible] who [illegible] attend. The exercises began with singing [illegible] Rock of Ages by Miss Hattie [illegible] and chair followed by prayer by T. C. Boyer, Chaplain of the Club.

President Barnaby who presided called upon Treasurer Montgomery who in his earnest way told of the great benefit he is daily receiving from holding the helm[?]. He then called Benj B. Walker, who is always in readiness to respond to the call of duty, gave an account of a visit he paid to Houlton, last week where a new temperance interest has sprung up. He stated that 69 signed the pledge at the meeting[illegible].

George W. Snow, Esq. was next called upon and gave words of cheer from all parts of the State and of New England. Mr Palmer of the Grand Lodge spoke of the grand results that temperance reform is achieving through the labors of Dr H. A. Reynolds—claiming that his success is the great cause of moral reform is almost unprecedented, and that every day work strengthens the already immense reformation.

Capt William Phillips, a member of the City Council, last year also spoke encouragingly of the great good that has lately been accomplished and of the workers to press forward to the grand consummation. Mrs Crossman was the last speaker and although her remarks were few, they sent gladness to the hearts of all true reformers. Fusman has proved the homely old saying to be true, sometimes that whilst some things are doing others can be done. Singing "Who never will may come" closed the meeting.

CONFLICTING [illegible]. The following authoritative denial of the sensational rumors about Custer has been received by telegraph to the Associated Press from Washington.

The statement that the President relieved General Custer from his command because he was a witness in the Belknap Impeachment trial is boldly denied. On the contrary it was the wish of the President that General Custer having been subpoenaed as a witness should remain until he had testified, and that in the Indian expedition should be placed under the command of some other officer.

General Sherman is most emphatic in saying that General Custer, though relieved as a witness by the Impeachment managers was not justified in leaving Washington without notifying the President or himself of his intention to do so. Neither the Secretary of War nor General Sherman protested against relieving General Custer nor did General Sherman say that General Custer was not only the best but the only man fit to lead the expedition. The army, General Sherman says possesses hundreds who are as competent for the command of such an expedition as General Custer.

William Stone the new Attorney General of South Carolina is a native of Maine, and served with distinction in the Union army. He is warmly praised by the journals of all parties in South Carolina.

The arguments on the question of jurisdiction in the Belknap trial will be brought to a close to-day, though it is not probable a decision will be made till after the return of Congress from Philadelphia. The Senate will meet at 11 o'clock to-day and the entire day will be consumed by Mr Knott and Judge Black.

Mace and Coburn announce that they have retired from the prize ring and neither will accept challenges.

COUGHS AND COLDS

From Samuel A. Wise, Esq., the well known Real Estate Auctioneer of Boston.

Having experienced results [illegible] very charm[illegible] from the use of WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY in cases of severe colds during the past two years I have full faith in its renovating power. I was first induced to try this medicine by the strong recommendation of a friend who was well nigh gone with consumption and whose relief from the use of it satisfied me of its great value. [illegible] coughs and colds and most clearly demonstrated to my mind its great value as a restorative. The only requisite is a fair trial to insure a great reputation from the public.

TO ALL, particularly Invalids, spring is a trying season. Indications of sickness should at once be attended to. Fatal diseases may be caused by allowing the bowels to become constipated and the system to remain in a disordered condition until the disorder has time to develop itself. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure is an old and truthful saying. Therefore we advise all who are troubled with the complaints now very prevalent—headache, indigestion, disordered liver, want of appetite, biliousness or nervous sickness—to use without delay, Schenck's Mandrake Pills. We know of no remedy so harmless and decisive in its action. It at once strikes at the root of the disease and produces a healthy tone to the system. People never need suffer from any disease arising from a disordered condition of the liver if they would take this excellent medicine when they feel the first indications of the malady. Families leaving home for the summer months should take three or four boxes of these pills with them. They act most instantaneously effect. They will relieve the patient of headache in one or two hours and will rapidly cleanse the liver of surrounding bile and will effectually prevent a bilious attack. They are sold by all druggists. eod1m may1

GRASSES.

O, life that liveth in the sod,
How sweet and beautiful thou art,
Like Aaron's mystic almond rod,
By miracle the grasses start.

They creep about the naked land,
In silence shod they nimbly run,
They clothe the rock and deck the sand,
And spread their velvets in the sun.

Upon a mighty loom they ply,
With shuttle flying far and wide,
And woven in this tapestry
See buttercups and daisies pied.

Oh, sweet this green and humble home,
For all earth's kind that breathe and sing;
This dewy footstool 'neath the dome
Joy gives to every living thing.

Oh, sweet this fond, maternal care,
For nameless weeds that flower and fade,
As teeming millions flourish there,
The weakest races God has made.

Oh, sweet to think when day is done,
And tired we seek the common bread,
Like all that gaze upon the sun,
We, too, beneath this cloak shall rest.

MAINE A CENTURY AGO

The Portland Transcript this week contains an account of a venerable public document containing very interesting centennial relics. It is a report of the Committee of Valuation, made to the General Court of Massachusetts in 1803. It contains a list of all the towns in the Commonwealth, of course including Maine, with the number of polls in each, the aggregate valuation and the rate of taxation. It shows the relative importance of the principal towns in Maine at the beginning of the present century as indicated by these tables. The District of Maine was then divided into six counties, viz York, Cumberland, Lincoln, Kennebec, Hancock and Washington. The aggregate polls in these several counties was as follows: York, 8107; Cumberland, 8612, Lincoln, 6225, Kennebec, 5410; Hancock, 3175; Washington, 738. Among the towns Portland leads off with 1001 polls, and next came Wells with 866, and Berwick with 840. Ten years before, in 1793, Portland had but 560 polls, while Berwick had 818 and Wells 837. Down to 1803 no other town in Maine besides these three had over 800 polls. But Falmouth made a good show with 736 voters, and Kittery was close behind with 711. Then came York with 697, North Yarmouth 601, Scarboro 516, Freeport 315, Gorham 507, Pepperellboro (Saco) 431, Arundel (Kennebunkport) 418, Brunswick 428, Poland 432, Bristol 131, Buxton 403. No other towns in 1803 had over 400 polls. Bangor then had 190, while Frankfort had 293; Machias had 241, Eastport 135, Castine 204, Ellsworth 47, Augusta 270, Hallowell 296, Winslow 353, Vassalboro 298, Winthrop 255, Bath 330, Lewiston 163, Pownalboro (Wiscasset) and Georgetown each 384, Thomaston 311, Camden 229, Buckfield 209, Gray 229, Harpswell 275, Windham 259, New Gloucester 316, Standish 263, Durham 290, Raymond 100, Turner 202, Cape Elizabeth 296, Limington 164, Parsonfield 270, Shapleigh 363, Alfred 204, Waterboro 222, Sanford 271, Limerick 188, Freyburg 161, Lebanon 310, Biddeford 311, Topsham 202, Boothbay 256, Warren 220, Cushing 227, Ballstown (Jefferson and Whitefield) 308, Farmington 250. The total valuation of Massachusetts aggregated $5,187,313 98, of which less than one million is credited to Maine. The total of polls in Massachusetts was 126,010, of which less than 33,600 were in Maine.

THE POTATO DISEASE.—An important discovery in relation to the potato disease has been made by Mr. Worthington Smith, who has at last found the resting spores of the Peronospora infestans. These he discovered when investigating leaves attacked with the so-called "new" disease, of which so much has been said and written of late. He has distinctly detected the zoo-spore and antheridium of the potato fungus after macerating one of the diseased leaves for several days in water. The "new" disease proves to be the "old enemy in disguise." or in other words he says, "the old Peronospora infestans in an unusual and excited condition." Mr. Smith, in a paper recently read before the Society, recounts the process by which he arrived at such conclusions, in which he also explains his reasons for thinking that "the fungus which produces the potato disease is aquatic in one stage of its existence, and in that stage the resting spores are formed." The reason the resting spores have evaded previous search is because no one has thought of finding them amongst leaves macerated with water. The Society have awarded Mr. Smith the Banksian gold medal, in recognition of the value of his discoveries. Of course nothing is yet gained but additional scientific information of the history of the disease, and its means of propagation. No remedy is suggested. It is certain, however, the disease cannot be cured until it is understood, and a correct knowledge of its nature will, perhaps, some day suggest the proper means of prevention or cure.—London, Eng, Farmer

A MEDICINE FOR TRUANTS.—In many of our common schools one of the most serious evils with which the teacher has to contend is the disposition on the part of the scholars to "play truant." The culprit resorts to all sorts of shifts to hide his fault, and is too often successful. In some parts of Switzerland a regulation is in force which effectually puts a stop to all such flighty escapades of pupils. The teachers are not called upon to punish children for playing truant. Whenever a child is absent a cross is put against its name, and at the end of the week the list of absentees is given to a supervisor, who visits the parents. If a parent whose child has been absent from school can not satisfactorily account for said absence, a fine is imposed, which can be collected by legal force if necessary. Of course this regulation nips truancy in the bud. If a father has to draw out his purse and pay for his child's absence from school, the full amount, with interest, will be likely to be endorsed upon that child's back. This is not only a healthful preventive of a great evil, but it is putting the responsibility for the child's punctual attendance at school where it belongs.

The city storekeeper said "Here, my friend, those balls of butter I bought of you, last week, all proved to be just three ounces short of a pound." And the farmer innocently answered. "Well, I don't see how that could be, for I used one of your pound bars of soap for a weight."

"For a young woman to begin to pick lint off a young man's coat collar," is said to be the first symptom that the young man is in peril.

C. A. BOUTELLE, EDITOR.

In issuing the Forty third annual Prospectus of these standard newspapers, the Proprietors confidently appeal to the record of nearly half a century as affording the best promise of the future, while they will continue to spare no effort in maintaining and advancing their high character as

The Leading Journals of Eastern Maine.

Having thoroughly refitted our establishment, we have organized an efficient Editorial, Reportorial and Correspondence corps, and with facilities at our command hope to make our Journals still more interesting during the coming year, which will be

CROWDED WITH EVENTS

OF A NATIONAL CHARACTER.

Our connection with the Associated Press, from which we receive all the dispatches by night and day, enables us to present in each issue

The Latest Telegraphic News from All Parts of the World.

In addition we shall be served by Special Correspondents at important points, and shall furnish

Full Reports of Local, Domestic and Foreign News,
Proceedings of Congress,
Of State Legislature,
Financial and Commercial,
Home Produce Markets,
Editorial Articles, Agricultural News,
Manufacturing Intelligence,
Selected Stories,
Choice Poetry,
Entertaining Miscellany,

And all the important and interesting features which make up a

First Class Family Newspaper

In politics the papers will continue to advocate and uphold the principles of the Republican party, while claiming to be independent, in the highest and best sense of the word. Fearless and outspoken in the treatment of all public questions and firmly maintaining what they believe to be right, they will avoid intolerance and rather take their appeals to the understanding rather than to prejudice. The year about to open will be fruitful of unusually important political events bearing upon the future of our country, and unprecedented interest will be excited in the

OF THE Centennial Year.

The celebrations of the Hundredth Anniversary of our National Independence will also be conducted upon a magnificent scale and the public will wish to be kept fully informed of the progress of these great events. It will be our aim to afford our readers the earliest and most reliable information and to favor only such measures and policy as will best promote the welfare of all the people.

HOME INTERESTS

as affected by the development of the resources of Maine, will receive special attention, and whatever is calculated to stimulate or benefit

Agriculture and Manufactures in the State will be heartily encouraged. We rigidly exclude from our columns everything of an immoral tendency, avoid sensational matter and seek to make a thoroughly reliable paper which will be sure of A Welcome in Every Family Circle.

To advertisers our columns open one of the best fields in New England, our circulation being the largest of any paper in this section, among the best classes of the people, and as

THE ONLY MORNING DAILY
East of the Kennebec,

our Daily Issue affords the principal medium of communication with a large and constantly increasing number of readers throughout Central and Eastern Maine.

OUR WEEKLY

is also the largest and best Weekly Newspaper in the State. Every number accompanied by a two-page Supplement, making a paper of FORTY-EIGHT columns, or one-half larger than any other Weekly. It is a standard publication, with large and constantly increasing circulation among the most intelligent and thrifty of the population of Eastern Maine, and the small space devoted to advertising is eagerly sought by the best class of patrons.

LETTER CARRIERS

All letters are delivered free by carriers when addressed to street and number. People should inform their correspondents of above and have their letters addressed accordingly.

Persons leaving their address at the General Delivery, can also have their letters sent, but it is much more convenient to have the street and number on, and they will be delivered earlier than if the name is put on at the office. Carriers make two deliveries daily, the first trip supplying the extremes of their routes.

Collections are made morning and evening in season for important mails—the down town boxes fifteen and the up town boxes thirty minutes before closing mails at the office.

Holidays the Carriers' Window will be open for the delivery of letters from 8½ to 9½ A. M., and from 7½ to 8½ P. M. Sundays from 8½ to 9½ A. M.

Any irregularities in the Carriers' department should be reported to the office

ENVELOPES.

No additional charge will be made for printing the name and request to return, across the left-hand upper corner of the envelopes furnished by the Post Office Department, (samples of which may be seen at the Cashier's window,) when ordered in lots of not less than 500.

A request for the return of a letter to the writer, if unclaimed within thirty days, or less, written or printed, with the writer's name, post office and State, across the left end of the envelope, on the face side, will be complied with.

The public are earnestly recommended to procure stamped envelopes with printed return request, as the expense is less, and letters thus endorsed, if not delivered to the person addressed, are returned to the writer free of charge.

First-class envelopes of above furnished at $2.50 per thousand.

Stamps cut from Stamped Envelopes cannot be used to prepay postage. The use of such Stamps is punishable by a fine of fifty dollars.

Stamped Envelopes, spoiled in directing, are redeemed at this office.

DOMESTIC POSTAGE.

All Letters must be Prepaid.—Letters for the Mails in the United States, three cents for half ounce or single rate. City letters, two cents half ounce or single rate.

County papers free, except to letter carrier offices, the papers coming to this office, if published in County, are subject to postage. Daily papers published in County, if delivered by carrier, one cent each, to be prepaid by stamps

Postage to Canada.—Same as in the States on letters and papers, prepayment compulsory, merchandise limited to 8 oz., postage 10 cents.

ADVERTISED LETTERS.

All letters remaining in the office are advertised on Monday of each week. If not claimed in one month thereafter, they are then forwarded to Washington.
